(2) Carbon-copies are not normally acceptable, other than in cases where the original typing has to be legally retained, elsewhere, as, for example, in the case of a proclamation.

(3) Computer print-outs are not accepted automatically, as discussion may be necessary with regard to the extra time and costs involved.

2. (1) All copy must be clear and legible, and there must be double or one and a half spacing between the lines.

(2) Any corrections or alterations made by the originator, must be clearly effected in blue or black ink, using editorial marks—not proof-reader's marks:

Provided that any copy containing extensive alterations will be rejected.

3. (1) Copy must appear on one side only of each sheet of paper.

(2) Except as is provided in subsection (2) of section 8, paper must not exceed 210 millimetres in width.

(3) If copy comprises two or more sheets of paper, all sheets must be numbered consecutively, in arabic figures, preferably in the top right-hand corner.

(4) Where any matter is added after the copy has been prepared, and such additional matter results in one or more sheets being inserted between those already numbered, all sheets must be renumbered from there onwards—not, for instance 7, 7b, 8, et cetera.

4. Photographic copy or copy produced on a duplicating machine may be accepted if it is abundantly clear.

5. (1) Should any copy—

- (a) exceed 10 pages of double-spaced typing on size A4 paper; or
- (b) contain tabular or other matter which involves complicated setting; it will be classed as "lengthy" copy, and will be required to be submitted not less than 21 days before the date of closing for the Gazette in which it is to be published.

(2) Lengthy copy may be accepted at less than 21 days' notice if—

- (a) the work involved is of a straight forward and non-tabular nature; and
- (b) the total volume of work on hand for the time being permits its acceptance.

6. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in these conditions, any copy—

- (a) which is of national importance, and which is originated as a matter of urgent necessity, may, by prior arrangement, be accepted late for the current week;
- (b) may, due to shortage of staff or to technical considerations, be delayed until conditions permit its processing.

7. Copy must not be submitted as part of a letter or a requisition. It must appear on a separate sheet of paper, on which there is no instruction or other extraneous matter.

8. (1) In cases where notices have to be published in tabular form, copy must be drafted exactly as it is to appear. If printed forms for any such notices are unavailable, advertisers must prepare their own forms. While it is not necessary to include the preamble, the box-headings must be there, and, where applicable, the number of the form; for example, "Insolvency Regulations—Form 3".

(2) In the case of copy for tabular notices, the provision of subsection (2) of section 3 does not apply.

9. Copy for all advertisements, whether sent by post or delivered by hand, must be accompanied by a requisition or a letter which clearly sets out—

- (a) the name and address of the advertiser; and
- (b) the debtor's code number, if any; and
- (c) the required date or dates of publication.

10. If a typographical error occurs in the Gazette, it is rectified as soon as possible by a correcting notice without charge to the ministry or department concerned, subject to the following conditions—

- (a) that such error is reported to the editor within three months from the date of publication; and
- (b) that the relevant copy, upon re-examination, is proved to be abundantly clear; and
- (c) that the correction of such error is legally necessary.

(2) If a drafting error is not detected before publication, the originating ministry or department is required to draft its own correcting notice, take it to the Attorney-General for vetting and pay for such notice to be published.

(3) For the removal of doubt—

- (a) a typographical error is made by a typographer;
- (b) a typist's error is classed as a drafting error by reason of the fact that the officer responsible for drafting failed to check the typist's work.

GOVERNMENT GAZETTE

Submission of Copy for Government Gazette Statutory Instruments and Notices

IT is hereby notified, for general information, that it is necessary to draw attention to the "Conditions for Acceptance of Copy", which appears in every issue of the Gazette; and particularly the need to submit lengthy copy, in the case of Statutory Instruments, at least 21 days before the date of closing for the Gazette in which the notice is to be published.

During the past few months or so there have been many cases where urgent copy for subsidiary legislation, which requires the signature of the President or a minister to give it effect, and which is of national importance, has been sent in for publication in the Gazette after closing-time. Whilst I acknowledge that it is the duty of Printflow (Private) Limited to give certain notices special treatment, I am, however, of the view that a Gazette Extraordinary has tended to be a must rather than a matter of priority in respect of unwarranted delays of urgent copy.

While every effort will continue to be made to publish Extraordinaries on the required dates, copy must be submitted timeously so that it can be programmed into the printing-work-flow as soon as it is available.

H. MATINGWINA,
Gazette Editor.

Electricity (Net Metering) (Amendment Regulations, 2022 (No. 1))

1. Scope of Code

The Net Metering Code provides guidelines and technical connection conditions for the inter-connection of domestic, commercial and industrial renewable energy generating facilities to the low voltage distribution network under the net metering scheme.

2. Utility Compatibility Requirements

2.1. General

A customer generator shall meet the requirements of this guideline relating to power quality parameters, at the Point of Connection (POC) or the utility interface unless otherwise specified by the Distribution Licensee.

The Customer-generator is responsible for protecting its equipment in such a manner that faults or other disturbances in the Distribution Licensee's network does not cause damage to Customer-generator's equipment.

The design, installation, maintenance, and operation of the renewable energy generating facility shall be conducted in a manner that ensures the safety and security of both the generating facility and the Distribution Licensee's network.

The Customer-generator shall ensure the automatic disconnection of the renewable energy generating facility from the Distribution Licensee's network, in the event of a power outage in the Distribution Licensee's network or any abnormal operation of the Distribution Licensee's network as specified in this document.

The Customer-generator accepts that the renewable energy generating facility shall be disconnected immediately from the distribution network upon direction from the Distribution Licensee that in the event the Licensee determines (a) causes damage to or (b) is producing adverse effects affecting other distribution network customers or the Distribution Licensee's assets.

The customer generator facility's a.c. voltage, current and frequency shall be compatible with the Licensee's distribution network.

Inverters of renewable energy generating units larger than 13.8 kVA shall be of balanced three-phase type and inverters up to 13.8 kVA can be of single phase type.

A customer with a multiphase connection shall split the generating unit in a balanced manner over all phases if the unit is larger than 4.6 kVA.

2.2. Frequency Range of Operation

The allowable system frequency allowed under continuous operation is in the range between 47.5Hz and 52.5 Hz.

2.3. Voltage Range of Operation

The allowable continuous voltage range of operation shall be between 90% and 110% of the rated voltage otherwise the Distribution Licensee's protection system will disconnect the generator.

Voltage excursions beyond this operating range is deemed abnormal voltage operating range. The renewable energy generating facility's response to such voltage excursions is listed in Table 1.

2.4. Power Factor

The generating unit should operate at unity power factor or at least at a power factor greater than 0.98.

2.5. Response to Network Disturbance

2.5.1 Maximum fault current

A renewable energy-inverter based generating unit shall not contribute to fault currents in the network, nor inject any additional reactive current during voltage dips.

2.5.2 Voltage sags/Voltage spikes/Abnormal voltage range of operation

For voltages outside the normal operating range a generating unit is recommended to remain connected at least during time periods shown in Table 1.

Table 1: Recommended connection time during Abnormal Voltage Conditions

Voltage range (at point of utility connection)	Minimum connection time
$50\% < V < 85\%$	10 s
$85\% \leq V < 90\%$	1 min
$90\% \leq V \leq 110\%$	Continuous operation
$110\% < V \leq 115\%$	1 min

Note: A graphical representation of the voltage ranges can be found in Figure 1 under clause 3.1.7.

2.6 Power Quality

2.6.1 DC current injection

The renewable energy generating facility shall not inject a d.c. current greater than 1% of the unit rated output current, into the utility AC interface under any operating condition as recommended by IEC 61727.

2.6.2 Rapid voltage changes

Voltage changes at POC attributable to the simultaneous connection and disconnection of the renewable energy generating facility should not exceed a value of 3 % of rated r.m.s voltage at POC.

2.6.3 Voltage unbalance

The compatibility level of voltage unbalance applies to both single phase generating unit up to 13.8 kVA and three phase generating unit larger than 13.8 kVA (as stated in section 3.1). The compatibility level for voltage unbalance on LV three-phase networks shall be 2 %. On networks where there is a predominance of single-phase or two-phase customers, a compatibility level of 3 % may be applied.

2.6.4 Flicker

The total voltage flicker P_{st} and P_{lt} resulting from all loads, other generation and background flicker injected from higher voltage levels must not exceed the following values, as recommended by IEC 61000-3-7:

- $P_{st} = 1.0$
- $P_{lt} = 0.8$

For each generating unit, the applicable flicker emission limits are based on flicker planning levels according to IEC61000-3-7, existing background flicker levels, possible future installations and the total size of unit to be connected. The methodology for apportioning unit-specific flicker limits shall be in-line with IEC61000-3-7.

The following are limits to the contribution of individual generating units to voltage flicker:

- $P_{st} = 0.35$
- $P_{lt} = 0.3$

Short term flicker (P_{st}) and long term flicker (P_{lt}) emissions as measured at the PUC and the limits are based on 95% probability levels.

2.6.5 Harmonics

For each unit, the individual harmonic voltage distortion limits are based on planning level for individual harmonic distortions

(HD) and total harmonic distortion (THD) as guided by the Distribution Code, existing background harmonics, possible future installations and the total size of unit to be connected, according to methodology described in IEEE standard 519:1992.

In the absence of any apportioned limits, individual harmonic voltage distortion limits for odd harmonics shall not exceed 2% and in the case of even harmonics shall not exceed 1%; Total Harmonic Voltage Distortion shall not exceed 3% at the POC.

In addition, generators shall not exceed harmonic current distortion limits specified in Table 2 at the POC.

Table 2: Current distortion limits for generating units

Isc/IL	Current Harmonic Distortion limits
	Maximum Harmonic Current Distortion in Percent (%) of I_L
	Individual Harmonic Order "h" (Odd Harmonics)
	<11	$11 \leq h < 17$	$17 \leq h < 23$	$23 \leq h < 35$	$35 \leq h$	TDD
<20*	4.0	2.0	1.5	0.6	0.3	5.0
20<50	7.0	3.5	2.5	1.0	0.5	8.0

>1000	15.0	7.0	6.0	2.5	1.4	20.0

* All power generation equipment is limited to these values of current distortion, regardless of actual Isc/IL.

- Even harmonics are limited to 25% of the odd harmonic limits above.
- Current distortions that result in a dc offset, e.g. half-wave converters, are not allowed.
- Isc = maximum short-circuit current at POC.
- IL = maximum demand load current (fundamental frequency component of generation current) at POC.
- TDD (Total Demand Distortion) = harmonic current distortion in % of maximum demand load (or generation) current (15 or 30 min demand).

Electricity (Net Metering) (Amendment Regulations, 2022 (No. 1))

3. Safety and Protection

3.1 System Safety and Protection

3.1.1 General

The customer generator shall be responsible for providing adequate protection for its facility under all operating conditions regardless of whether or not the generating facility is in operation.

The admissible tolerance value between setting value and trip value of the voltage shall be maximum $\pm 1\%$ and the admissible tolerance for the frequency at the maximum $\pm 0.1\%$.

3.1.4 Reclosing

For a distribution network with automatic reclosing, the generating unit shall wait for at least 5 minutes until the re-closer has normalized the portion of the system to which the facility is connected before synchronising back to the system according to section 3.1.2.

3.1.5. Loss of utility voltage (Islanding)

To prevent islanding, a generating unit shall cease to energise irrespective of connected loads or other generators within two seconds of loss of utility voltage according to IEC 61727.

3.1.6. Earthing

Renewable energy generating facilities and the associated interconnection systems must be grounded as per recommendations according to the Distribution Code.

The grounding scheme of the renewable energy generating facility shall not cause voltage disturbances or disrupt the coordination of the ground fault protection on the local distribution network.

3.1.7. Over/under voltage

The customer generator must provide an automatic method of disconnecting its facility from the Distribution Licensee's network if utility voltage excursions are beyond the limits stated in Table 3. The limits according to Table 3 apply to the lowest phase voltage in case of voltage dips and to the highest of the three phase voltages in the case of voltage spikes.

Voltage protection device shall use the half wave r.m.s. value from the 50 Hz fundamental voltage component.

Table 3: Over/under voltage protection relay response time

$110\% < V < 115\%$	61
$115\% < V$	0.16

Figure 1 shows the region of continuous operation, recommended remain-connected region according to Table 1 (grey shaded area) and the must-trip region for generator protection (coloured area) according to Table 3.

3.1.8. Over/under frequency

The customer generator must provide an automatic method of disconnecting its facility from the Distribution Licensee's network if utility frequency excursions are beyond the limits stated in Table 4.

Table 4: Over/under frequency relay response times

3.2 Safety and Protection

3.2.1. General

The customer generator and the Distribution Licensee operator shall ensure safe operation of the generating facility and the utility network. Safe operation also includes the safety of the following persons:

- (a) owner (including personnel and inhabitants of the property) of the generator facility;

- (b) general public safety;
- (c) distribution Licensee personnel;
- (d) general emergency response personnel, e.g. fire brigade should fire arise at the small generating facility.

Any other applicable safety standards for electric installations, as they may be defined by the applicable codes and regulations under the Electricity Act.

3.2.2. Labelling

An appropriate signage shall be displayed on the distribution board where the generating unit is connected, warning any personnel to completely disconnect the generating facility and isolate it from the distribution lines before working with equipment therein. The Distribution Licensee shall ensure that the following is written legibly on a background of a sharply contrasting colour for each identifying marker as guided by IEC 60417 (Graphic symbols).

- (a) “Warning”, “Caution”, or “Danger” followed by “MV Cable” or “LV Cable” as applicable; and
- (b) The name of the Distribution Licensee and contact telephone number, on which contact is possible at all times.

3.2.3. Emergency shutdown

All generating facilities shall have emergency shutdown capability. During an emergency, all fuel inputs (e.g. d.c. input to inverter, etc.) and a.c. voltages shall be shut off regardless of the operating mode of the equipment.

D.C connection of solar PV panels and other storage medium should be open circuited.

4. Metering

4.1. Metering Arrangement

All meters utilised in the local distribution network shall be the property of the Distribution Licensee operator even when the meters are located on the premises of the Customer-generator.

The Net Metering arrangement shown in Figure 2 can be realised using a bi-directional meter recording import and export energy separately.

The generating unit feeds into the customer network or into utility network through the distribution board.

The Distribution Licensee shall own and shall be responsible for the design, provision, installation, operation, maintenance, testing and sealing of the meter and associated meter equipment.

The Distribution Licensee shall be responsible for keeping and updating a register and related drawings of all Customers connected to the Distribution Licensee's distribution network. The information contained in the abovementioned register shall include, the location of the Customer, the name plate rating and type of the Customer renewable energy generator and the estimated excess generation of the Customer renewable energy generator.

4.2. Type of Meter

The meter used shall be four quadrant electronic, bi-directional type meters and a meter with the capability of metering quality of supply parameters shall activate the monitoring facility on the meter.

5. Testing and Commissioning

5.1. General

The Distribution Licensee shall have the right to witness testing and commissioning of generating units upon completion of construction and shall have a copy of the test data.

The commissioning test shall be conducted after the interconnection system is installed and is ready for operation.

Commissioning test shall include the following:

- (a) Verification and inspections
- (b) Response to abnormal voltage
- (c) Response to abnormal frequency
- (d) Synchronization
- (e) Unintentional islanding functionality test
- (f) Cease-to-energize functionality test

The Distribution Licensee shall not be responsible for verifying any control or signal wiring not directly related to the interconnection protection.

Prior to final approval by the Distribution Licensee or anytime thereafter, the Distribution Licensee reserves the right to test the relaying and control related to the protection of the distribution network.

If the Distribution Licensee personnel is not present to witness the commissioning tests, the Distribution Licensee shall still consider approving the commissioning of the generating facility if the inverter of the generating facility is certified according to section 5.2 and upon receiving a copy of the test data.

5.2. Inverter certification

The inverter of the generating unit shall be product certified to comply with relevant IEEE and IEC standards, as referred to by these interconnection rules.

IEEE standard certification must certify inverter harmonic emission levels according to IEEE 519:1992 or an updated version of a similar standard with limits as shown in section 2.6.5.

IEC standard certification must certify inverter's performance according to IEC 61727, in relevance to disconnection during loss of grid (3.1.5), islanding (3.1.5) and excessive d.c current injection (2.6.1). The inverter's islanding prevention measures must be tested and certified according to IEC 62116 standard.

The person responsible for the installation of a generating unit must declare that the installation of the system complies with all requirements according to IEC 60364-7-712 and this document.

5.3 Typical Renewable Energy Facility Connection

The manually operated disconnection switch or main switch inverter supply must be visible and must have a locking system or device that allows the Distribution Licensee personnel to work on the system safely. The disconnect-switch's locking device shall include a warning sign that informs of the personnel working.

Bi-directional meter records energy use. When limits for protection functions specified in this document is exceeded, which includes over/under frequency, over/under voltage, loss of mains and islanding, the main protection relay shall trip. Relays internal to the inverter shall trip the inverter in cases including but not limited to, short circuit protection, synchronisation, and internal faults.

5.4 Power Supply Isolator in Switchboard

It is recommended that the interconnection of the generating facility and the building's electrical system is undertaken at a switchboard or distribution board. This connection shall be at an a.c. power supply isolator located on the switchboard (or distribution board) where the renewable energy generating facility is connected. This switch is referred to as main switch inverter supply. This isolator shall be lockable.

A switch or isolator being lockable means it needs a padlock or a similar device to lock it. In addition, a switch or isolator shall have a tag or small plastic with inscription "DO NOT SWITCH ON-PERSON WORKING ON SYSTEM" or similar.

The cable between the switchboard and inverter requires protection. Thus, a suitable rated circuit breaker shall be used as the isolator. For example, a low voltage air circuit breaker can be used as an isolator switch that can be used to connect or disconnect the circuit by manually moving an operating handle to the ON or OFF position. Such a circuit breaker is also reset manually and can trip automatically when the current in the circuit exceeds a predetermined value (in case of short circuit or over)."
